Plaintiff MICHELLE MILLER ("Plaintiff") alleges both an action for negligence and products liability. Plaintiff alleges that she was exposed to Mosquito Mist and as a result was injured. Mosquito Mist is a larvecide that Defendant CLARKE MOSQUITO CONTROL PRODUCTS, INC. ("Clarke Mosquito") formulated and distributed. Plaintiff contends that Clarke Mosquito had knowledge of the hazards to humans, and by not adequately warning of the dangers of the product, it breached its duty of care to Plaintiff. She contends she was exposed to Mosquito Mist while living in the Cayman Islands. The application of Mosquito Mist was allegedly done by the Mosquito Control Research Unit ("MCRU"), a division of the Cayman Islands' government.

It is also a possibility that defendants will need to cross-complain against the Cayman Islands' government, if it is determined that they improperly applied/sprayed defendant's product.
